Naylor Answers Students' Queries

How will the OU-NU merger affect the students?

Acting President Kirk Naylor, speaking to more than 1,500 students in the Fieldhouse Wednesday, said that there would not be any noticeable change.

"Yes, we will still have a night school, a football team—hopefully a better one, the school colors will still be the same and we won't lose any professors except by their own choice," added Dr. Naylor.

He stated that LB 736, the merger bill pending in the legislature, provides for all programs in effect now to continue as they are.

The only difference may be tuition.

"Eighteen dollars for residents and $28 for out-state students is far too much," said Naylor.

One of the benefits of the merger will be a reduction of tuition for all Nebraska students. The rates at both universities will be the same, but Naylor said, "I am not in a position to say by what amount the tuition will drop."

The taxpayer will also benefit with the merger because this agreement will prevent duplication of expenses in regard to higher education.

Dr. Naylor then answered questions submitted by the students.

"I've got enough questions for a week," said Naylor.

One student queried what OU would lose by the merger. "Its identity will not be the same as in the past," answered Naylor.

The University of Nebraska at Omaha, the proposed new name, will come into effect July 1, 1968. Provided the measure is passed by the legislature and the voters of Omaha.

Classes were dismissed for this special convocation and the OUampi Room and cafeteria were closed.

Delay Election!

The Student Council plans to hold a special election next Wednesday. The Gateway urges that the election be delayed.

Whether The Gateway did not take enough initiative or the Student Council did not do its share in providing details of the election for publication is not relevant.

The fact that the OU student body was not informed properly is.

If the election is held next Wednesday, The Gateway promises to contest the results according to Article III Section 17 of the By-laws of Associated Students.

Regents Raise Fee For Fall Semester

By Lothar A. Luken

The University Board of Regents Thursday approved a resolution changing the fee structure for students.

Each student will now be assessed a general fee of $30 starting with the fall semester. This fee includes present activity and health fees and adds a general lab fee to be paid by every student.

The regents also approved a faculty resolution which determines how faculty members would be chosen for the committee to select the new University president.

According to the resolution, each of the five colleges will choose one member, with the sixth member chosen by the colleges at large. The faculty approved this method of selection at the Feb. 10 meeting of the Faculty Advisory Committee headed by Dr. Ralph Wardle.

Dr. Paul C. Kennedy was promoted to head the Department of Secondary Education upon the retirement of Dr. Frank Gorman effective August 31, 1967.

Harold Keefover, University Controller, told the board the new general fee was instituted to simplify registration procedures. "The average student will pay the same as this" (Continued on Page 2)

Acting President Naylor Puts Fiscal Hope In Lincoln Merger

By Robyn Carmichael

"We are not going to Lincoln on our knees. We are not going to be another of Nebraska's colleges. We are a University," Omaha University's Acting President Kirk E. Naylor assured some 50 campus leaders last Friday.

In a briefing session to acquaint top students with the background of the University and the reasons for the proposed merger with Nebraska, Dr. Naylor outlined the fiscal policy of the University and the problems inherent.

Omaha University has three sources of income. In order of their size, they are (1) tuition, (2) taxes and (3) endowments.

Since the major portion (75%) of revenue comes from students through tuition, administrators must now plan the budget by estimating enrollment figures for each semester. And trying to second-guess students often results in a "guesstimate," according to Dr. Naylor.

Using charts and graphs he showed the appalling rise in student tuition from 1950 on. Ten years later income from taxes was less in proportion to the rise in tuition. Taxes now account for only 20 per cent of the income.

But he admitted that, while it was easy to estimate the amount of money the University will receive from the two-mill levy, it is infinitely more difficult to do anything about it.

"We've tried to raise the mill levy through elections," he said. "Each time it has cost us $40,000 to produce no results." After a while, he smiled wistfully, "we joined Ernie Terrell and got the message."

As for the third source of income endowments, Omaha University receives very little. Dr. Naylor said OU has avoided competing with private colleges in the area for private endowments because "we do get the two mill levy" and wanted to maintain good relations with the colleges.

He hastened to add that a merger would cut out the two mill levy, and OU could then move an endowment program into high gear. Indications are that Omaha industry, which benefits greatly from OU's students and facilities, would be called upon for sustaining money.

At present, 82 per cent of the University's dollar goes for salaries, a sticky problem when most of that percentage depends on a flexible enrollment. "We are being criticized right now for pricing students out of an education," Dr. Naylor emphasized. "Instead of 74 per cent, students should only be paying 40 per cent."

This high price for education caused enrollment to drop. What concerned officials most, Dr. Naylor said, was not only the drop in the number of students, but the drop in the number of hours each student took.

Several alternatives were proposed to pave the road for progress. Obviously tuition could be raised, but this would be defeating the purpose of a public university while doing very little to solve long-range financial deficits.

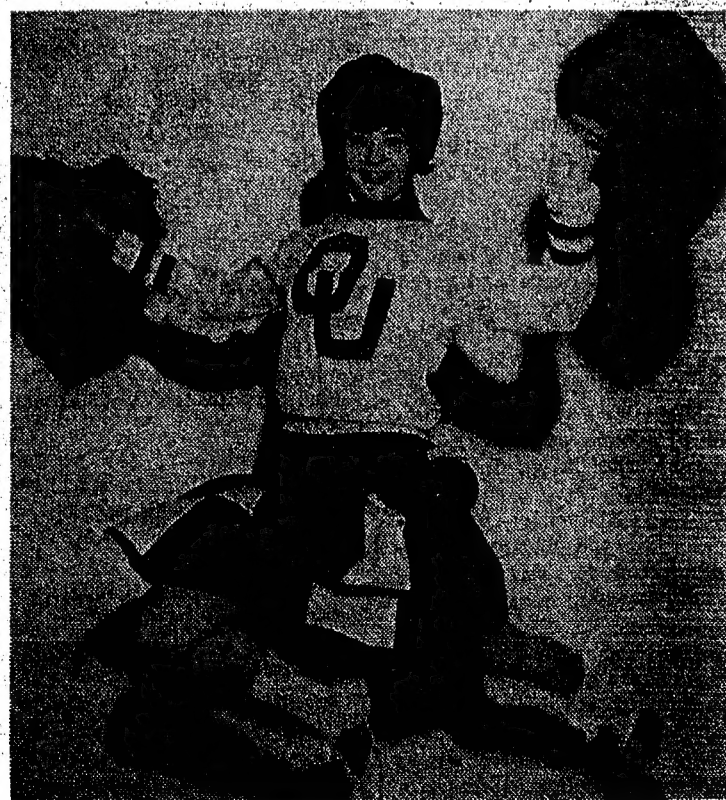

In the past there has been friction between OU and its Lincoln counterpart. Dr. Naylor stressed this indication of a need for a cooperative, rather than a competitive system of education in Nebraska.

It was Scottsbluff Senator Terry Carpenter who introduced LB 736, providing a merger of OU and NU on July 1, 1968.

Under the coordinated system, a governing board would preside over both universities. OU would retain its own chief administrator, but he would report to the chief executive of the governing board, in this case, Nebraska Chancellor Clifford Hardin. OU would seek

Editorially Speaking

Tuition vs. Students

The nation's public-supported colleges and universities are struggling with a new theory of relativity. It's more basic, although not simpler, than Einstein's theory. It's measured in dollars and cents, which is getting pretty basic.

The new relativity involves the continual struggle between student tuition and tax revenue.

Across the nation students cry, "Tuition is too high," while college administrators are becoming gray-haired worrying about getting additional revenue. Legislative bodies have money problems also, which complicates the situation. Taxpayers claim, "Taxes are too high."

Last week The Daily Nebraskan, NU's student newspaper which someday may become The Gateway's sister, editorialized on the matter of "high" tuition at NU.

The comment came in response to a Student Senate resolution of the previous day (see text below). Says the "A Fair Share?" editorial:

"The facts reveal that students at the University are now paying an excess of what almost every educational authority in the country considers a fair share."

What is the "fair share?" The editorial admits "it is hard to say exactly what the fair percentage is, but most authorities place it around 33 per cent."

A Nebraska U student is currently paying $334 a year for tuition. This is 43.3 per cent of the cost of his education, according to The Nebraskan.

On the other hand, just 70 miles away at OU, resident students are paying 74 per cent of their education.

Acting President Kirk Naylor says the proposed merger of OU and NU would adjust tuition levels to the same figure.

Therefore, relatively speaking, the "high" tuition at NU would be "low" to OU students. Of course, NU students would probably not agree, their tuition won't go down.

NU Senate Resolution Text

Whereas the total costs of education to the student (i.e. tuition, room and board and books) have risen markedly in recent years at the University; and

Whereas the tuition rate has increased from $204 to $260 from $685 per student in 1961-1962, to $601 per student in 1965-1966; and

Whereas the tuition rate has increased from $204 to $260 per student in the same period; and

Whereas such rising costs are creating a critical condition of undue financial stress for many currently enrolled students as well as future students of the University of Nebraska; and

Whereas such a situation is working against the best interests of the people and future of the State of Nebraska; semester, some may pay more, some less," Keefover stated.

The regents also approved a new refund policy which extends to eight weeks the time that students may drop classes and be proportionately reimbursed. The refund time presently stops at five weeks.

In routine matters, the board confirmed the reappointment of 84 faculty members and seven assistant instructors.

Accepted also, were the resignations of Dr. David Moore, assistant professor of German; Dr. Herbert Papenfuss, assistant professor of biology and Mrs. Nadine Ricks, instructor of English.

Robert Klappouchy was appointed by the Regents as instructor of foreign languages for the second semester of this academic year.

Leaves of absence were granted to Francis McLean and Stanley Thomas, both assistant professors of engineering.

The Board promoted James Gibson to associate professor of education, Carl Meyers to instructor, and E. J. Sadler to assistant professor of secondary education.

The board also accepted with thanks a grant of $1,000 from the Gilbert M. and Martha H.

Hitchcock Foundation to finance this year's "Experiment in International Living."

Also accepted were a $1,000 donation from Mr. A. A. Allwine and a $200 scholarship from the Ella and Hymie Milder Foundation.

In financial matters, Controller Harold Keefover reported student fee collections are short $317,500 from the estimated budget figure of $4,190,800. He said this would be offset if the County Board of Equalization's slash of OU's mill-levy is reversed by the State Supreme Court.

At the close of the regent meeting, Dr. Kirk Naylor, Acting President, told the Board of his meetings with faculty, students and staff in regard to the proposed merger. He said he will appear before the Unicameral in Lincoln Monday on behalf of the merger.

He concluded his remarks by stating that a check with Dean Donald Pfisterer confirmed that the National Students Association is not represented on campus.

The NSA has been in the news for accepting funds from the Central Intelligence Agency, as disclosed by a national magazine.

Marine Life Exhibit

Capt. C. J. Johnson, Marine Corps selection officer, is in the Student Center, today, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., to interview students interested in Marine Corps officer training.

Freshman, sophomore, or junior men may be commissioned to a Second Lieutenant upon graduation. Seniors may apply now for a ten-week Officer Candidate Course after graduation. Both programs offer a choice of duty as a ground officer or Marine pilot flying supersonic jets or helicopters.

Junior and senior women may receive a commission as a Woman Marine officer after graduation. Interested students should inquire immediately because an early application results in higher pay and a better chance at qualifying for the program desired.

They'll Bowl Them Over

Two Omaha University Intramural College Bowl teams staged an exhibition match Monday night as a preliminary to actual competition beginning Feb. 20.

The first competition match will be held Monday, with the semi-finals and finals held on Thursday, Feb. 23.

The winning team will receive a trophy and a plaque in the Student Center will honor successive years' winners.

In the exhibition match the Lambda Chi team swamped the Pi Kaps.

A Growing Concern?

"Individual problems and concerns of students set the tone of this semester's classes," said Robert Butler, professional counselor in the University Studies Division.

The various classes deal with effective study, exploration of vocational choice and orientation for students of higher ability. These are designed to make the University "more meaningful to the new student and suited to his interest."

"The University is attempting to provide a variety of orientation needs of the students," said Butler, "and help them make academic choices consistent with their abilities."

Working with Butler in the counseling of over 100 University studies students this semester are Sheila Flemmer and Pamela Fine.

'Sabres' Disband At OU, Contest Seeks College Queen

ROTC After New Image

Sophomore Ralph Tiedeman, the last of the armsmen, lays his rifle to rest.

By Dave Decker

A fourteen-year tradition has now come to an end.

The Air Force ROTC SABRE Drill team has been officially disbanded by the Detachment staff here.

"To preclude conflict between the primary mission of AF-ROTC and extracurricular activities which detract from an individual's time, energy, and accomplishments," Lt. Col. Kenneth Dyer, professor of Aerospace studies here, said. "I have disbanded the SABRES Drill team."

"The five weekly sessions at 6:30 a.m. are not conducive to studying late the previous night," he said.

This announcement was met with saddened emotions from those on the team.

Commander Gary Kaspar said, "The discontinuance of the SABRE Drill team will leave a large void on the OU campus, never to be filled again."

"The SABRES are no longer an official organization on this campus," he said. "But it will still contain the spirit they had generated in the past."

Since their formation in 1953, the SABRES have compiled an admirable record.

- First place, 1956, Drake University.
- Fifth place, 1957, national meet, Purdue University.
- Seventh place, 1958, University of Illinois.
- First place, 1958, Offutt Air Force Base.
- Sixth place, 1959, national meet, Purdue University.
- First place, 1959, Creighton University.
- Sixth place, 1960, Champaign, Ill.
- Third place, 1961, University of Minnesota.
- First place, 1961, Creighton University.
- Second place, 1965, University of Colorado.
- Third place, 1966, University of Colorado.
- First place, 1966, University of Nebraska.

The team has added much spirit to the OU campus, leading the attack in blood drives, charities and athletic contests.

In 1963 the SABRES initiated and sponsored an area high school drill meet held here.

Col. Dyer emphasized the fact that the ROTC department is creating a new image.

"The new image is one of academic excellence, with the emphasis on procurement of cadets highly qualified and motivated to be pilots, navigators, engineers, scientists, meteorologists and leaders," he said.

"The newly revised curriculum in ROTC in Aerospace Studies emphasizes academic challenge and achievement," he added.

In conclusion Dyer noted that numerous SABRES have maintained a high grade-point average and their participation in the corps will be channeled into increased support of other Air Force ROTC activities and raising their grades to better compete for the quota in the advanced corps.

The annual search is underway to select "the nation's most outstanding college girl," to be National College Queen.

It is not a "bathing beauty," or talent contest.

Candidates are tested on intelligence, general knowledge, qualities of leadership and personalities.

Every co-ed who enters this contest must describe her scholastic career, grades, campus activities and hobbies.

If she is chosen as a state winner, she will receive a ten-day, all-expense-paid trip to New York to participate in the National Pageant. The national winner will receive more than $5,000 in prizes, including a trip to Europe and an automobile.

All undergraduate co-eds are eligible. Entry blanks are available in Miss Margaret Killian's office, Ad 101, or write to: National College Queen Contest Committee, P.O. Box 935, New York City, N.Y. 10023.

Deadline for entering is Feb. 28.

Association Not 'Cherished' By All

By Clarence Wilson

The Association concert held Thursday Feb. 9, proved that OU students will even go off campus to hear noise.

And noise was what they heard, except for the last number, "Cherish," the Association's only hit.

Everyone knows the acoustics in the Fieldhouse aren't too good, but in the Civic Auditorium Music Hall the acoustics are excellent by comparison. So why did the amplifiers have to be so blasted loud?

I don't know if it was because my ear drums were degenerating, but it got to the point where I couldn't tell the difference between the songs. They all sounded the same.

The applause was not overly enthusiastic except at the end when the group sang "Cherish." The applause was great at this point, perhaps, because the audience realized that this was the end.

But, alas and alack, it wasn't so, because the "Assassination" mistook the applause for a call for "encore" and they came right back with an ear-splitter.

The "Assassination" is without a doubt a talented group. They have the ability to create somewhat of a mood using instruments other than drums and guitar.

Above the din I was able to distinguish the sound of a piccolo and a cornet. The group, also entertained the packed house with a little skit, entitled the "Association Press," a take-off on the Associated Press.

The Negro 'In White America'

By John Prescott

"After 400 years, the Negro is fed up with the unmitigated hypocrisy of the white man."

This line is typical of the many that make up the forceful play "In White America", currently running in the Conference Center Auditorium. The play, written by Martin Duberman, tells the history of the Negro in America from the days of slave ships up to the present time.

The production is not a play in the classic sense, but a series of dramatic dialogues read by the cast members. The OU Reader's Theater under the direction of Richard Albin, does a first-rate job of presenting this award-winning play.

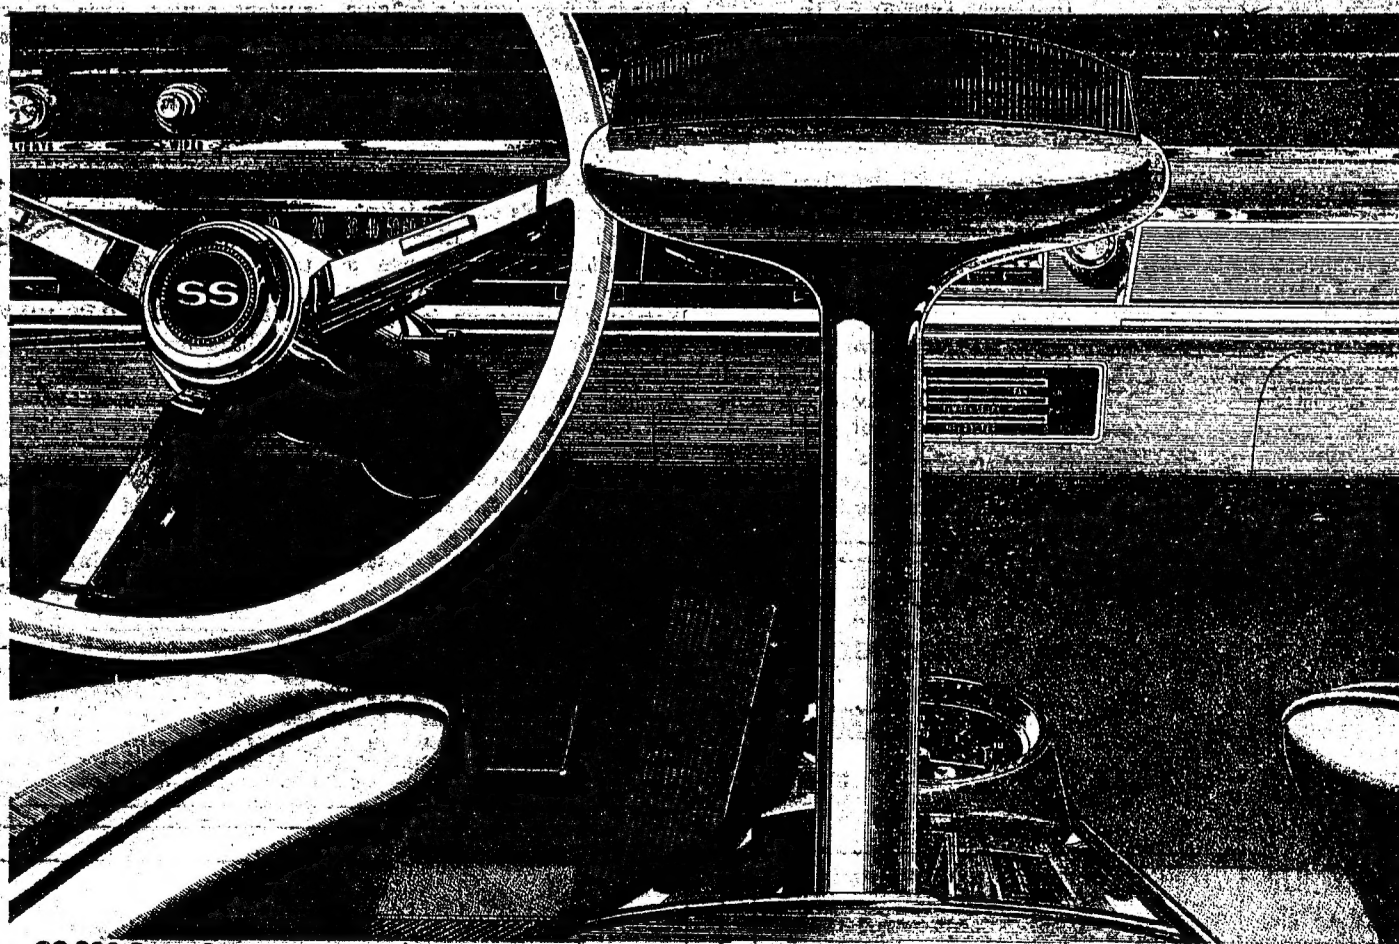

The stage is bare except for six black stools. The simplicity adds to the electric force of the dialogue. Sharon Rodgers, Michele Vaughn, Bruce Fleming, Robert Page, John Beasley, and Dennis Adams each master a variety of roles during the play. The use of dialects adds immeasurably to the impact of the lines.

The powerful dialogue is effectively accented by the voice and guitar of Ann Albin, the director's wife.

The play, based on historical documents, and the cast bring to the stage a multitude of little known testimonies from well known men. Andrew Johnson, Booker T. Washington, Woodrow Wilson and W. Dubois are among the many. However, possibly even more effective is the testimony given by the common man.

The last performance of "In White America" is tonight at 8 p.m. Tickets can be obtained with an activity card for students or for $1.50 at the box office in the Ad. Building.

Indians Prepare For Double-Header Feb. 21

OU Cagers Slip To Second In CIC

By John Whisman

After suffering two straight conference setbacks, the Indians should be licking their wounds. Instead they will be swinging their hatchet in an attempt to regain the top spot in the CIC.

Washburn is alone at the top of the league after tripping the Indians in the waning seconds 62-59 at Topeka Tuesday.

It becomes ironical that the two teams forecast to be fighting for their lives to keep out of the cellar in the preseason poll, are now battling for the conference title.

The clash last Tuesday was a key game for both clubs. They were tied in the loss column with one defeat, but the Indians were up in the win column with four wins, compared to three for the Ichabods.

Now the situation has taken a reversal. OU is now down by one game in the loss column.

This makes the game Tuesday probably the most important game of the conference race for the Indians. A loss would throw the Indians into the ranks of the mediocre according to the final standings in the CIC.

Head coach Jim Borsheim has an optimistic attitude about the rematch Tuesday with the Ichabods. Borsheim feels the game will go the other way when OU is host.

Washburn is virtually assured of a part of the crown even if they lose here Tuesday.

The Ichabods now boast a 10-0 record at home and an impressive 13-3 overall record after defeating the Indians.

From the field, the Indians outscored the host club by four points. The victory margin for the Ichabods came from the charity line.

Pikes Squeeze By Lambda Chi

Little Pikes squeezed past Lambda Chi Alpha 41-39 during their intramural basketball game Wednesday night.

Tom Helligso cinched the game for the Pikes as he sunk two free throws in the last 10 seconds of play.

Chuck Stecker and Bob Willets led the scoring for the Pikes with 10 points each. Frank Lushinsky and Stecker were top men on the boards.

Randy Owens was the outstanding player for Lambda Chi.

The Indians were called for 20 fouls while Washburn was assessed with only 13.

If the Indians are able to outscore Washburn on the Ichabods' own court, they should surely be able to hit more fielders here in the fieldhouse.

Defensively the Indians are tough at home so the foul production for the Ichabods should be less than on their own court.

The Borsheim crew will be trying to make the Ichabods their seventh victim at home. The Indians have lost only once at home this year, that loss coming at the hands of Colorado State on December 19.

On the road, however, the Indians have not fared too favorably. The Indians have dropped four out of their last five encounters.

The lone win came at home against cellar-dwelling Pittsburg State. The losses all came on the road.

Against Washburn, however, the Indians seemed to come out of a slump that has plagued them since the holiday break from classes.

Now out of the slump, the Indians should be ready to blast the Ichabods right out of the fieldhouse Tuesday night.

The final four game slate for both teams favor the Indians. The only conference game besides Washburn for the Indians is Emporia State February 28.

Washburn on the other hand has yet to meet Ft. Hayes while on the road.

OU usually plays well at Emporia State so they should win there.

The Ichabods have played only six games on the road and have only a mediocre 3-3 record. Along with not playing on the road regularly Washburn meets a tough crew that dropped the Indians 55-54.

Wayne St. Final Foe

The Indian wrestlers will return home for their final home match of the season against a veteran-studded Wayne State on February 21.

The six o'clock match is preceding the basketball game and is the first part of the Wrestling-Basketball Doubleheader to be held in the Fieldhouse.

Tenth in NAIA

As champions of the Nebraska College Conference last year, Wayne had an impressive 8-2 record. The Wildcats also placed tenth in the NAIA Tournament

OU fell victim to Wayne 31-3 at Wayne last year. The Wildcats are the defending NAIA District 11 champions, and the Indians placed second.

Bert Merriman, a former Wayne wrestling coach and athletic director, left the Wildcats for a similar position in Washington. The wrestling reins were then handed to Bill McNeil, who was left with a host of experienced wrestlers. McNeil has done an excellent job in guiding his team to its present 9-2 slate.

Four Standouts

The Wildcats lost to St. Cloud (Minn.) State 24-7 for one of their defeats. The Indians and St. Cloud battled to an 18-18 draw on January 6. St. Cloud is the only team both squads have faced this season.

Man for man, Wayne is a fine wrestling team. Four outstanding wrestlers spice their attack. Gary Artman is a mean 115-pounder who placed second to Curlee Alexander in the District 11 tourney last year. Another is Bill Schwartz, a toughie at 123-pounds. Bill placed second in that same tournament as Kinzie Williams of OU emerged as the District 11 123-pound champ.

Gray Is Undefeated

Wayne State's only undefeated man is 145-pound Rich Gray. The Wildcat senior boasts a spotless 11-0 record. Another District 11 runner-up is Larry Michaelson. Labeled a "fine wrestler" by Indian Coach Don Benning, Larry lost the tourney title match to OU's 160 pound Reggie Williams, a two-time NAIA District 11 champion.

"I definitely feel that a maximum effort by the whole squad will produce a team victory," Benning concluded.

Indian Grapplers Tackle Ft. Hays

By Dan Parker

Fort Hays State will play host to the high-flying Indian grapplers in the dual match in Hays, Kansas tonight.

The Tigers were defeated by Nebraska's Cornhuskers 19-9 earlier this year. OU beat the Huskers 15-14 in a midseason squeaker.

Coach Dave Winters is in his fourth year as the Fort Hays coach. Last year the Tigers placed sixth in the NAIA Finals, possessing a 9-8 record. The Indians dropped an 18-15 match to the Tigers at home last year.

Outstanding men on the Fort Hays squad are 123-pound Lee Albert, 137-pound Stormy Johnson, and 152-pound Bill Ramsey. Johnson placed second in the NAIA Finals at 137-pounds as a sophomore. Ramsey, a senior, suffered a concussion and could not participate in that tourney after winning the District 11 title.

"Fort Hays has always been tough. Our boys will have to do what they have done all year in picking up the slack. Both the reserves and the regulars will have to give a little more effort if they want to win," said Indian Coach Don Benning.

Injuries will hamper the OU lineup. Rich Coleman, undefeated

145-pounder in four matches, suffered a twisted knee and will miss the next three matches. He is expected to be back in action against Wayne State on February 21.

Tom Ruffino, a fine wrestler at 137-pounds, sustained bruised ribs and will be out indefinitely.

Coach Benning is planning on Roy Washington to move down to 145-pounds, and Billy Meyers or Bob Mosely will fill in at 137-pounds for Ruffino.

All other wrestlers at 152, 160, 167, and 177 pounds will move down one weight. Either Ken Pelan or Jim Barrington will grapple at the 177 pound weight class.

WRA Sponsors PBC; Plans Other Activities

By Kathy Piccolo

Girls, do you know what WRA is?

You should... you're a member.

All women carrying a minimum of six hours and an activity card are members in the Women's Recreation Association.

This association sponsored a PBC fun night Tuesday in the student center. Free entertainment featured a choice of pool, bowling or cards. Approximately 45 girls participated.

Basketball Starts Feb. 21

WRA teams will bowl on Mondays at 4:30 at Westlans. Cost is $1.10. Additional four-member teams will be formed this Monday, open to anyone.

Intramural basketball starts February 21. Unaffiliated and sorority teams will play Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday's at 3:30. Those who have signed up should check the west Quonset for the game schedule.

Future Has Archery, Table Tennis

Other upcoming events include table tennis singles, badminton doubles, tennis singles tournament, an archery tournament, coed bowling tournament and coed table tennis tournament.

This Saturday the Girls Extramural Team will play Midland College at 2 p.m.

Winners of the first semester intramural bowling tournament were unaffiliated and Zeta Tau Alpha took second place. Danni Linneman and Marsha Martin took the tennis doubles tournament.

Bookmarks listing other activities of the WRA will be passed out schoolwide in the next week.

Indian Grapplers Victorious Twice

By Dan Parker

The University of Omaha wrestlers boosted their record to 8-1-2 by defeating South Dakota University and Graceland College last week.

The Tuesday night tussle between the Indians and SDU's Coyotes saw OU march off with a decisive 22-8 trouncing.

Heavyweight Tom Maides again turned in an outstanding performance in decisioning Dick Bovee of SDU 2-1. Bovee was runner up in the North Central Conference at heavyweight last year.

Rookie Billy Meyers won his first match as an OU grappler by defeating Jeff Parker 5-2 at 145 pounds. The Indians unbeaten Roy Washington stretched his winning streak to 11 with a 5-2 decision over 152 pound Bill Harold.

Curlee Alexander of OU and Gary Lundee had an up and down match with Curlee edging the Coyote 11-10. Reggie Williams won his tenth match against one loss by pinning SDU's John Hight in 2:18.

Benning said he is real proud of Washington's 11-0 record. "With a record like that, Roy has provided a spark for the whole team," he added.

The mentor also had praise for Williams (10-1), and Hakanson (9-2) for fine contributions 123 pounds—Curlee Alexander, Omaha, defeated Gary Lundee, 11-10.

130—Arnie Fett, South Dakota, defeated Gary Krieger, 6-0.

137—Mike Williams, South Dakota, defeated Joe Luongo, 8-1.

145—Bill Meyers, Omaha, defeated Jeff Parker, 5-2.

152—Roy Washington, Omaha, defeated Bill Harold, 5-2.

160—Reggie Williams, Omaha, pinned John Hight, 2:18.

167—Wendell Hakanson, Omaha, defeated Dave Sonnenberg, 6-0.

177—Nick Modrejn, Omaha, drew with John McKinley, 0-0.

Hwt.—Tom Maides, Omaha, defeated Dick Bovee, 2-1.

OU Fourth In Bowling

By Norman Tweedy

Central Missouri State College's new student center was the scene of the Association of College Unions Tournament February 10-11.

Region 11 of the ACU is one of 16 regions in the nation that helps encourage intramural sports participation. Omaha University is one of 17 schools that belongs to the union.

Fourth in Bowling

OU bowlers placed fourth this year. The top doubles team for OU was the team of Doug Hoeffner and Dick Schenek, top in the singles was Jim Palma. In the over all pin count Tom Kahley struck a whopping 1727 only 70 pins off the top, and Bob Bigley brought in a total pin count of 1654.

White Lacks Accuracy

Gary White represented OU in the Men's Pocket Billiards Tournament. White, a qualified billiards player, lacked the accuracy he needed to win this tournament.

In the second round of the Men's Single's in Table Tennis Jim Thompson emerged victorious only to be defeated in the finals by John Orange of Wichita State University.

Second in Chess

OU's chess team placed second, ½ point behind Kansas University. Warren Wittekind of OU was first in the individual standings, and his brother Richard, the only other OU participant, was fifteenth in a contest of twenty four.

Graceland Falls To OU

The University of Omaha wrestlers won their seventh match of the year in the 19-12 win over Graceland College.

Curlee Alexander, 123 pounds, romped over Graceland's Jim Robinson 7-0. Gary Curtis spoiled the 1967 debut of OU's Gary Kreiger at 130-pounds. Curtis won 9-0, but the score is not an indication of the match.

At 137-pounds, Tom Ruffino squeaked past the Yellowjacket's Pluckett Blake 4-3. Another Indian newcomer, Billy Meyers was defeated by Scott Stickney 3-2 in the 145-pound weight class.

Rookie Roy Washington won his tenth match in a row by pinning Graceland's Bill Gensler in 7:08 at 152 pounds. Indian Reggie Williams had another fine showing in the 4-0 shutout of 160-pound Chuck Sears.

Freshman Wendell Hakanson mauled Graceland's Dave Twilliger 7-0. Paul Reedy, third in the NAIA Finals last year, beat Indian Nick Modrejn 4-2, but had a difficult time in doing so.

One of the best matches of the day was the heavyweight duel between Wally Cheesboro of Graceland and OU's Tom Maides. Cheesboro is an enormous 6-5, 330 pounder. The "big boy" found Maides a real challenge, but pulled out the win in the last ten seconds 2-0. Indian coach Don Benning called the match "one of the best matches Tom has wrestled this year."

Results:

123 pounds—Curlee Alexander, Omaha, decisioned Jim Robinson, 7-0.

130—Gary Curtis, Graceland, decisioned Gary Krieger, 9-0.

137—Tom Ruffino, Omaha, decisioned Blake Pluckett, 4-3.

145—Scott Stickney, Graceland, decisioned Bill Meyers, 3-2.

152—Roy Washington, Omaha, pinned Ed Gensler in 7:08.

160—Reggie Williams, Omaha, decisioned Chuck Sears, 4-0.

167—Wendell Hakanson, Omaha, decisioned Dave Twilliger, 7-0.

177—Paul Reedy, Graceland, decisioned Nick Modrejn, 4-2.

Heavy—Wally Cheesboro, Graceland, decisioned Tom Maides, 2-0.

Tri-Track Meet at 7

The University of Omaha track team will entertain Nebraska Wesleyan and Peru State tonight in the OU field-house, at 7 p.m.

"Both teams have looked real good in the field events and will offer strong competition," said track coach Lloyd Cardwell. "Last week we had one casualty this week we had four," he said.

Rich Carey, OU's only winner last week may not be available according to Cardwell because of an ankle sprain.

Others running at half speed are, Robert Smiley, Larry Weller, and Larry Stephens, all point getters in the track inaugural.

OU amassed 29½; Wayne, 47; and Doane, 74½ points in last weeks meet.

"Considering everything I think we did real well, and the freshmen came through real well," replied Cardwell.

"The boys have good spirit and are improving and you can't ask for more than that," he added.

Ticket Reminder

Tickets for the Omaha University Hockey Night will be on sale today and tomorrow in the Student Center.

OU Night is Sunday at Aksarben Field. Omaha's Knights will meet St. Louis at 7 p.m.

All reserve tickets for OU students will be discounted by $1.00.

Between the first and second periods, the O-Club will play a fraternity team for the broomball championship.

Swanson Leads B-Ball Scorers

At Ring Side

with
Mike Condon

Head football coach Al Caniglia says the proposed merger between the University of Nebraska and OU would, in the long run, be beneficial to the whole athletic program.

The University currently is working under conditions less than ideal with the practice field covered with crushed rock and the Stadium doing more than double duty, subbing for PE classes, intramurals, track practice, meets, and not to mention regular football requirements.

According to Caniglia, "the grass can only take so much."

Football Would Gain Most

The coach went on to say that "what is good for the school is good for the athletic program."

With a wider range of students, interests and a broader financial base it would be possible to add some of the things that larger schools provide. Swimming, handball, gymnastics and other complementary sports may be included.

As for the major sports, football would probably gain the most. At the present time there is only a set number of scholarships offered. Once they are taken they may not be reissued until the student gives it up, either through graduation or academic ineligibility. The scholarships are designed to cover only tuition and fees. The boarding and meals are left to individuals.

Recruitment of outstate players therefore, is rather difficult, and for the most part little is done in this vein.

High Caliber Conference

Another problem facing OU athletics in the decision to join the Rocky Mountain Conference.

The Indians go against schools with athletic teams built with a good deal of help through the recruitment programs.

The other nine schools in the league are of high caliber and schedule opponents that are no slouches. OU could be at a loss without some sort of answer to the new and bigger leagues.

UFO Skeptics Scoff, But Seeing's Believing

By Judy Bradley

"I won't believe it until I see it," I always said. Then I saw it.

Skeptics have scoffed ever since I saw an Unidentified Flying Object Jan. 17 at 7:20 p.m. in the vicinity of Raven Oaks at 60th and State.

Four other witnesses have verified the sighting made by me and my uncle, Robert Ludacka. One witness reported watching an object with binoculars at about 7 p.m. at 58th and Read. The next report came from 60th and Hartman at about 7:10 p.m., followed by a third sighting at 7:15 p.m. at 63rd and Country Club Road.

The object came from the vicinity of the Country Club when I saw it at 7:20 p.m. The UFO was going southeast when I lost it and next appeared one mile south and two miles east at 11 p.m. as reported by a witness near Forest Lawn Cemetery. Thus the UFO made a large circle with witnesses all along the path of the object.

The object stood out as a blimp shape darker than the night sky. It hovered and moved slowly right above the telephone poles and trees at the side of the road.

The same red and green blinking lights and bright white light at one end were reported by the other witnesses. The 50-foot-long object hovered almost directly above the car and had eight lighted windows as another witness also reported.

There were no wings or rotors and no noise. The Air Force couldn't account for it as any conventional aircraft or balloon.

But someone at the World-Herald did.

My picture was used with my arm upraised as I described the flight of the UFO. It reappeared in the offices of the World-Herald with a whiskey bottle superimposed in my hand. This illustrates many of the reactions that I got to my experience.

Some seem to want to help my "hallucinations." One crank called to tell me that the UFO was from Mars and that he was in it. Another witness received a call from someone who said, "We're coming to get you!"

The Air Force reaction was to take my report, repeatedly ask for any physical evidence that may have been found and warn me not to say anything that would frighten my friends and neighbors because "the Air Force is taking care of it."

The National Investigative Committee on Aerial Phenomena (NICAP) contacted me through two representatives in Omaha. A letter from the headquarters of NICAP in Washington, D.C. asked me to make a report and invited me to join NICAP as an associate member to help investigate sightings in the Omaha area.

The NICAP reaction was to keep me informed of other witness reports.

Other Omaha residents called me to let me know that I wasn't crazy and that they have seen UFO's too.

An older woman who is in a rest home told me to "not let anyone tell me that I didn't see anything" because she has been doing research on them.

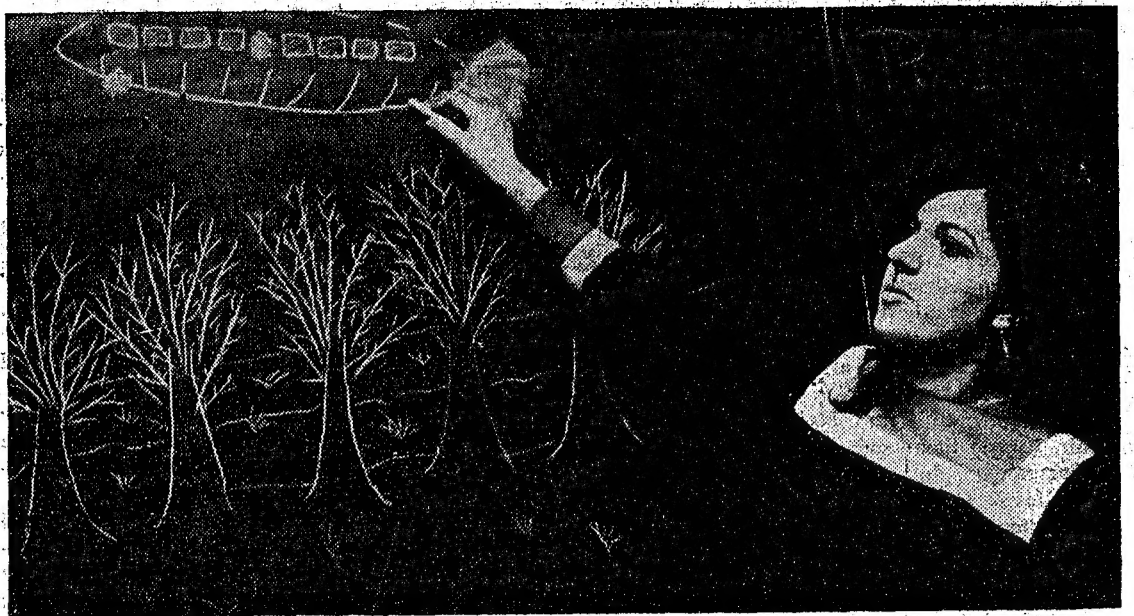

But the typical reaction from OU students has been, "Have you seen any flying saucers lately, Judy?" These exact words start off every conversation so that I wince everytime I hear that phrase.

But I specifically object to the words "flying saucer" because it conjures the picture of a cartoon flying saucer and little green men. This brings out either the laughs or head shakings with "tsk, tsk" 's.

Some skeptics begin to believe when confronted with the evidence and photographs collected from around the world.

But others still insist that they "won't believe it until they see it."

Well I saw it. I don't know if it was from another planet or from earth, but something was there.

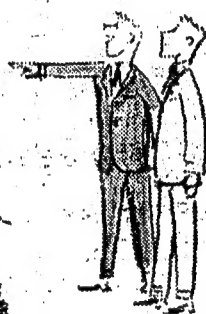

UFO-sighter Judy Bradley attempts to draw the object she saw hovering at 7:20 p.m. Jan. 17.

OUampi Week Kicks Off

This is it. OUampi week begins at high noon.

The Ippauogs are sponsoring a week full of activities designed to boost school spirit. From now until Feb. 25 a series of pep rallies will be held to increase varsity action crowds.

The first pep rally will be held at Noon today in the Field House. The rally is for the wrestling team, who will meet Fort Hays in Kansas and for the basketball team who will be in Sioux City for a tussle with Morningside.

The week ends with a "Grand Finale" of sorts. A final pep rally will be held Friday, Feb. 25. This will be a send-off for the wrestling team to Northwest Missouri, and a boast for the basketball players in their last home game with St. Benedict.

Before the cagers game, Feb. 25 at 8 p.m., the top two intramural basketball teams will compete for the championship title.

At half-time of the Indians game, a "special guest star" from an Omaha karate school will give an exhibition.

The final event for OUampi week will be a sock hop in the field house after the game. Music will be provided by the Shomen Combo. Jonelle Dunn and Sherry Anderson are in charge of the function, which is spearheaded by Interpep.

TKE's Help March Of Dimes Fund

Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity collected $900 in its drive for the March of Dimes.

The TKE's pulled a bathtub through downtown Omaha last Saturday, collecting $235. Saturday night they sponsored a charity dance in the student center and added $665 to the fund.

Guest of Honor at the dance was the 1967 March of Dimes Poster Child. She was presented with a gift from the fraternity members.

Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity collected $900 in its drive for tional March of Dimes office for its contribution.

Shirley Newcomer is the newly elected president of Zeta Tau Alpha. Other officers are Nancy Stevenson, pledge trainer; Dava Fuerst, rush chairman; Joyce Vacek, secretary; Jacques Borcyk, treasurer; Nancy Pickard, historian; Sandi Burdick, ritual chairman; Sandy Grove, social chairman; Sue Zimmer, panhellenic representative, and Kathy Hurley, liaison officer.

Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity has elected officers for the coming year. Lou Bernth will take over as president. Other officers include: Tom Fischer, vice-president; Harold Hall, treasurer; Dan Parker, secretary; Rick Albaugh, pledge trainer; Buddy Belitz, sargent-at-arms; and Jaey Sedlacek, publicity director.

Pi Kappa Alpha is holding its annual Family night Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Judge Eugene Leahy will be the guest speaker.

The Sigma Kappa Mothers' Club gave a Valentine Tea Sunday, in honor of the fall pledges and their mothers.

Dr. and Mrs. Kirk Naylor attended the tea, which was at the home of Mrs. Harley Danielson, 9406 Davenport.

Chi Omega sorority has elected new officers for 1967. They are, president, Janet Archer; vice-president, Marji Holmquist; assistant to the president (a new office), Carole Grube; secretary, Brenda Williams; and treasurer, Jan Voelte.

Spring Bidding Starts For Coeds

Sororities on campus are taking new pledges.

From now until the end of the school year, any girl interested in joining a sorority may sign up with Mrs. Helm in the Student Center.

Open rush is confined to the OU campus, and does not include private parties or social functions given by one sorority.

To be eligible for open rushing, a girl must be registered for at least 12 hours, and must not be on social probation.

'Silver Opinion' Contest

Reed and Barton, silversmiths, are conducting a "Silver Opinion Competition" in which scholarships worth $2050 are offered to women students.

Advertising Helps Frats

"If you're going to join a fraternity, this will probably be the semester," is the advice of the Inter-Fraternity Council during second semester rush.

Apparently many OU students are taking it. There are more second semester pledges this year than in any previous years. About 50 men have been pledged so far and rush will continue until Monday.

You'll Go Farther

This is the first second semester rush that IFC has conducted in such an extensive, highly publicized manner. One member of the council felt that the lack of such efforts in previous years was "wasting a valuable resource."

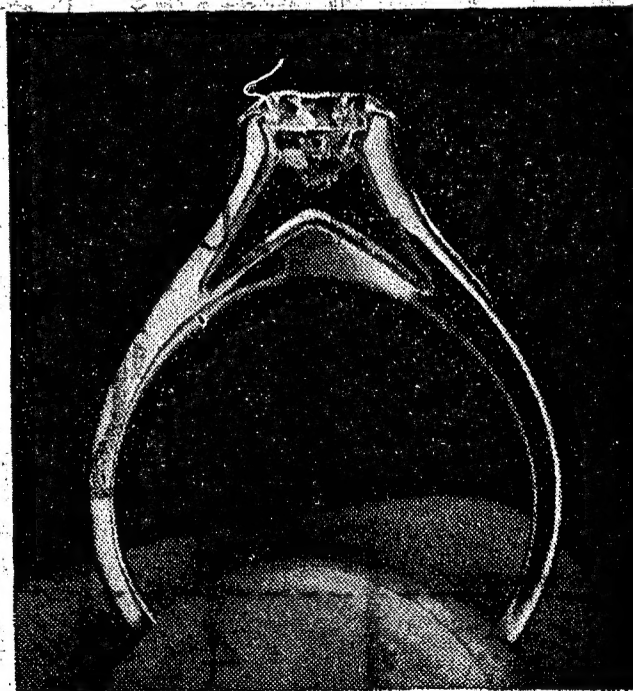

As a result, this year's rush campaign was given more publicity. The "Ask a Fraternity Man Now" theme was carried out by phrases like "You'll make it alone, but you'll go farther in a fraternity." As an IFC member pointed out, second semester rush is giving students the chance to see the opportunities fraternities offer twice a year instead of once.

Smoker 'Flops'

The IFC sponsored an informal smoker as part of the campaign on Tuesday, February 10. Interested students had the chance to talk with fraternity members, look at displays, and hear some words from Dean Pflasterer and Mr. Fred Ray.

However, the affair did not live up to the expectations of IFC. "To be quite frank, we didn't have the turn out we hoped for," said IFC president John Berkheimer.

OU Appears On College Bowl Sunday

By Bonnie Johnston

The College Bowl team from Omaha U. leaves today at 2:15 p.m. for New York to pit their knowledge against the one-time winner of the Bowl, Texas University.

A trifle nervous perhaps but sharp-witted, Marcia Cohen, Gary Johnson, Team Captain Jerry Webster and Craig Reiser continued faculty coaching sessions Wednesday and Thursday nights.

In a mock contest situation, the quartet sat under TV lights to signal with buzzers and to answer questions thrown at them by faculty coaches.

"We have been getting more faith in each other . . . in our team-mates . . . which is the main thing," stated Marcia.

During the last month, the team has held eight meetings with various coaches. Team members expressed appreciation for the coaching received from College Bowl Board members who gave up their evenings during the semester break.

"Practice sessions that were planned for two hours have run closer to five," said Marcia. "These sessions are the most exhausting things known to modern man!"

Both Marcia and Jerry bow to the opportunity of coaching on the subject of music and art. A recent meeting with art instructors, according to Gary, has been helpful since "we needed a lot of help," Marcia added, "our interest in music and art has been increased by our College Bowl coaching."

Gary mentioned "being given concentrated humanities courses although the team has already taken these subjects." He expects the extra coaching to pay off. Also, "math should be fairly simple," he said.

Craig is being counted on for his knowledge of geography, history and chemistry. Marcia claims "he's a whiz." "I have a lot of faith in Craig, too," said Gary.

Political science, literature and history are the strong points of Jerry's contribution to the team. A wide knowledge of literature places Gary in the spot-light when related questions are asked of the panel.

Contributing in all subjects but expected to answer any miscellaneous questions, Marcia counts on "teamwork because of the volumes of knowledge which can be drawn from in the competition."

Jerry summed up the feelings of the quartet. "We intend to do the best we possibly can. We have practiced with a lot of dedication." Although Marcia said she "expects being as nervous as before a biology exam, I try not to think about it."

Appearing the calmest member of the group, Craig said "I want to do the best I can."

Their pre-Bowl itinerary upon arrival in New York will include attendance Saturday evening at the Broadway show, "Man of La Mancha." All expect to attend one or more of the museums and "it might be a good idea to go to church!" remarked Marcia.

The group has received many wishes for success from students but say most of their friends "try to avoid the issue because they realize the pressure we're under."

OU Varsity Team members Craig Reisser, Jerry Webster, Marcia Cohen and Gary Johnson practice under the bright lights at KMTV studios. Channel 3 will broadcast the Bowl Sunday at 4:30 p.m.

Winning the College Bowl would award $1,500 to O.U., $500 if they lose. Winners return weekly for a total of five times. After five wins, the team is considered undefeated and the "trophy is retired."

OU's team faces the once unbeaten Texas U team confidently after viewing last Sunday's game and beating them unofficially at home.

All students are invited to help boost the team's spirits by seeing them off at the airport today at 2:15 p.m. on United Flight 304. Win or lose, the quartet returns Monday morning at 3:37 a.m. on United Flight 267.

Naylor Hopes Merger Assures OU's Future

their own candidates for the governing board.

Chief principles of the merger include:

1. Reasonable academic and administrative autonomy for OU.
2. Retention of the present college and departmental structure.
3. Faculty members will retain the rank, tenure and benefits held at the time of the merger.

Funds for the operation and capital expansion of the University of Omaha would be appropriated by the state legislature. Tuition would be the same for students at both universities.

A merger would probably result in expanded facilities in Education, Business Administration and Engineering departments.

Dr. Naylor also pointed out safeguards in the proposed merger. First, the University will have a contract, and as a public institution there are several Omaha senators looking after the University's interests.

Dr. Naylor fielded a variety of questions from the students, assuring them of easy cross-registration under the merger and freely-transferring credits.

He admitted that campus expansion was a problem, but "we have ten million dollars tied up in this 52 acres, and every 20 feet above the ground we have an additional 52 acres. It is conceivable that we could handle 20,000 students if we utilized all the space available."

This would not include housing, the tall administrator hastened to add. While OU has the power of eminent domain, only "time will tell whether or not we get land we have been unable to get in the past." Meanwhile, even with out-state students making housing a necessity, it would be useless to expect it within the first two years of the merger.

With a merger, Omaha University would secure a steadier income, endowments would be easier to obtain. More important, a merger would pave the way for a coordinated, cooperative educational system in Nebraska.

Without a merger, Dr. Naylor feels conditions would worsen, "eventually negating the purpose of this institution."
